

KELLY MCDANIEL LPC, NCC, CSAT

from

Ready to Heal: Women Facing Love, Sex, and Relationship Addiction

Cultural Belief #3: I am not really a woman unless someone desires me sexually or romantically.

Beauty is my most important source of power.

What does it mean to me if I'm beautiful?

What does it mean to me if I'm not beautiful?

Belief #3 requires a rejection of self and leaves women with the following choices: You may...

- shut down sexually
- find oneself aroused by pain/humiliation
- have sex when not fully alert/present (sex with alcohol, drugs, fantasy, porn, or sleepiness)
- seducing to gain power
- sex with married men and/or extramarital affairs

To examine belief #3 and how it has affected you, consider which choices apply to you and write them down.
